

About the Open Space Authority

Since 1993, the Santa Clara Valley Open Space Authority has protected over 28,000 acres of open space, natural areas, watersheds and wildlife habitat — preserving the natural beauty and environmental health of Santa Clara Valley and providing outdoor recreation opportunities.

Mission and Vision

The Santa Clara Valley Open Space Authority conserves the natural environment, supports agriculture, and connects people to nature, by protecting open spaces, natural areas, and working farms and ranches for future generations.

The Authority envisions the Santa Clara Valley and its surrounding hillsides as a beautiful place where a vibrant network of interconnected open spaces, trails, wildlife habitats, and thriving agricultural lands enrich the region's cities and make it an exceptional and healthy place to live, work, learn, and play.

Board of Directors

Alex Kennett
Mike Flaugher
Helen Chapman
Dorsey Moore
Vicki Alexander
Mike Potter
Kalvin Gill

General Manager

Andrea Mackenzie

Coyote Ridge Open Space Preserve (Derek Neumann)

Agency - At a Glance

Founded in 1993

Over 28,000 acres protected

Over 30 miles of trails

528,000 annual visitors

$24,708,588 budget

1.4 million residents in jurisdiction

Workplan highlights

- Grand opening of Coyote Ridge Open Space Preserve
- Develop Justice, Equity, Diversity, Inclusion, and Access Plan
- Develop a Succession and Sustainability Plan
- Develop a 5-Year Capital Improvement Projects Plan
- Engage residents through the Coyote Valley Conservation Areas Master Planning process
- Restore riparian zones along Fisher Creek

Expenses

Budget process

Fiscal Year July 1 - June 30

Coyote Ridge Open Space Preserve (Nick Perry)